

Advertisement under project “Identification of extent of forest land in forest fringe villages”

Interested academicians/professionals/practitioners /retd.personnel are invited to contribute as expert in the project “Identification of extent of forest land in forest fringe villages” being implemented by FRI, Dehradun under the funding by National Rainfed Area Authority (NRAA), New Delhi. The expert’s role will be to compile national report from the outputs of 275 districts report for national level comprehensive report and state specific recommendations. Proofreading of the document for all 275 districts, approx. 3400 (thirty four hundred) pages will have to be done by the expert. The time for completing the mentioned job will be approximately 30 days. Expert will be assisted by a team of 6 members working as data managers in the project. Honorarium available for the job is nominal and will be decided on the mutual agreement during hiring process by the committee formed by Director, FRI.

SN	Deliverable	Tenure/available time	Required Qualification/Experience
1.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • National level comprehensive report with state specific recommendations • Proofreading of approximately 3400 pages 	Approximately 30 days from the time of acceptance of offer letter	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ph.D in Biological Sciences preferably in ecology • Professional knowledge of landscape ecology • More than 25 years field experience on Ecology and Ecosystem Studies- Grassland/ Biodiversity/ Forestry

Interested experts are requested to send their applications and their Curricula Vitae/Resume to PI of the project; Director, Forest Research Institute (dir_fri@icfre.org) & Project Coordinator-cum-Head, Forest Informatics Division (head_fi@icfre.org) either by post or by email latest by 15th September, 2016 (up to 05.00 pm).

 Head, Forest Informatics Division
 Forest Research Institute
 PO: New Forest
 Dehradun 248006 (Uttarakhand)
 Phone: 0135-2224220